MADE MEMBER OF I. P. H. COMMISSION

FIELDS, DISS AND CLARY FOR NODAWAY COUNTY

FOLLOWS WATER SHED

Goes to Head Water of Mississippi River—300 Miles are Paved.

John Fields of Barnard, Fred E. Diss of Maryville and Guy Clary of Clearmont were appointed Nodaway County commissioners for the Itasca Park Highway at the meeting held yesterday by the St. Joseph Auto Club at the Chamber of Commerce rooms in St. Joseph About thirty out-of-town delegates were at the meeting and they were entertained at a luncheon at the St. Francis Hotel.

The morning session was devoted largely to routine work and the afternoon session to the plans of organizing throughout the length of the road, and for marketing through Iowa.

The marking through Missouri—Buchanan, Andrew and Nodaway counties—with the "IPH" of the association, black and yellow, has just been completed. The same emblem is used in Minnesota, in which Itasca Park is situated, surrounding Lake Itasca, the source of the Mississippi River, but through Iowa the markings have not been made.

Delegates from Iowa thought that there would be little trouble in getting the road marked, provided it did not interfere with the markings of the state highway department of that state. The road is reported marked north of Carroll, Iowa, from which place to the park, slightly more than 300 miles, the road is paved. From St. Joseph to Carroll is 297 miles, making the total length of the highway approximately 600 miles.

Iowa delegates called attention to the fact that through much of Iowa the watershed between the Missouri and the Mississippi rivers is followed by the road, giving it a high location without large streams to cross and on top of a ridge which is nearly level. This is given as a decided alvantage for a north and south road through Iowa, possessed by no other like road.

Andrew County has been organized to keep the road dragged and Nodaway County is being organized. It is hoped to make this one of the important north and south highways of the West. At St. Joseph it is planned to continue the road to St. Louis and then to Florida making this both a winter and summer tourist route.

The importance of keeping the road well dragged until the organization can be made more perfect was stressed at the meeting. It was strongly recommended that each town along the high way erect a sign just outside the city limits stating where information about the I. P. H. can be obtained.

An effort will be made to get the section of the road between Braddyville and Burlington Junction approved as soon as possible on account of its being the section that crosses the state line.

Among the delegates from this section of the state to attend the meeting were:

Maryville—P. L. Curfman, W. J Montgomery, Fred E. Diss, F. A. Bush and George A. Pickens.

Bolckow—C. R. Dysart, Walter Craig and Tom Montgomery.

Rosendale—William Woods and Maurice Lewellen.

NEW INSURANCE RATE BOOKS ARE OUT TODAY

Few If Any Changes in the Rates—Does Away With Stack of Suppliments.

A new insurance rate book was received today by J. J. Heifner, containing all the rates of Maryville and doing away with the big stack of suppliments that have accummulated at the offices of insurance men. There are few if any changes in the rates. The book, however, reads the actual rate that property holder pays, in place of 20 cents more than he pays, as it was in the old books. The rates here have been 20 cents below the list rate in the old books for several years on account of the fact that the insurance companies are charged no tax for doing business in Maryville.

RAINFALL WAS 1.67 INCHES LAST NIGHT

CAME AT OPPORTUNE TIME FOR GOOD OF CROPS

MADE MOTORISTS HURRY

People Were Marooned Up Town—They Scurried to Dance Hall —A Frightened Dog

J. R. Brink, official weather recorder, says that the rainfall in Maryville last night was 1.67 inches.

Many farmers in the county were prevented from starting cutting their oats crops this morning by the rain. A lot of people had set today as the time to start. Others who had already begun were kept out of the fields. It made it too wet to plow corn most every place but some people planned to begin cutting their timothy this afternoon.

The rain came at an oppurtune time. It finds most of the wheat in the shock and the oats not so ripe but that they can wait several days, if necessary. The corn is just right to use up all the moisture that it may get.

Many people were surprised by the rain. They did not think from the looks of the clouds that the storm would come as early as it did. Consequently when the drops began falling between 7:30 and 8 o'clock there was a mad scurry by motorists who were out on the roads to get into town and another scurry by those who were in town to get home. It began gradually enough that most of them where able to get in, unless they were too far away Some of those who were too far away came to grief with the slippery roads and had to spend the night some place along the way, coming on in this morning.

Many people were marooned up town in Maryville and had to wait for an hour or two before getting home.

A number of people were frightened by the loud claps of thunder. For a few moments the street lights were off, following a flash of lightning.

Young folks going to the W. O. W. dance came up in taxi cars and made mad rushes for the steps leading upstairs. A collie dog that had taken shelter in the steps leading to the office of Dr. H. L. Stinson on West Third street became so frightened when the lights went out that he crowded into a motor car past the occupants, inspite of the fact that they were strangers to him. When he was shoved out into the street he went galloping along close to the running board.

The wind which accompanied the rain blew down a tree which fell across and blocked Short street just east of the Central High School building. Another limb was broken on a tree on Third street and was hanging in a dangerous position over the street. E. E. Tilton, chief of police, was busy this morning getting the property owners to remove these broken limbs. No other damage has been reported done by the wind last night.

Half of a large tree on the lot at the southwest corner of Buchanan and Fourth streets was broken down by the wind.

The front porch was torn off at one side at the home of William Logan a mile and a half northwest of Graham and the shingles were torn from the roof of the house. Mrs. Logan had 150 chickens before the storm and this morning said she could find only about fifteen.

It is reported that two and a half inches of rain fell at Graham.

MISS CORWIN BACK FROM BERMUDA

WENT TO SCHOOL IN NEW YORK IN FEBRUARY

TWO WEEKS IN ISLANDS

Is Much Impressed With Trip She Took—Made Number of Visits While Gone

Miss Mae Corwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Corwin returned this morning from a several months visit in New York City and from a two weeks' trip to Bermuda Islands. Miss Corwin has been in New York since February taking special work at Columbia University and studying voice under Haywood, a vocalist of national reputation.

Accompanied by Miss Mildred Miller a former member of the faculty of the State Teachers College of this city, Miss Corwin sailed from New York on June 21 to the Bermuda Islands, the trip to the Islands taking two days.

The visit on the Islands consisted mostly of trips taken to the old English Forts, the dry docks, boat excursions around the islands, and an overland trip to the old city of Fort George.

Miss Corwin and Miss Miller stayed in Hamilton, a town of the island which is noted for the coloring in the water and made the different trips from that point. Some of the trips required the entire day but most of them were completed in a half day.

Miss Corwin is much pleased with her trip. She says that practically all of the travel on the islands is done in carriages drawn by horses or on bicycles The English law forbids the use of cars because of the narrow roads.

The country is beautiful, the climate is tropical and the vegetation adds much to the beauty. The estates have large hedges of oleanders, which grow wild. There are many large estates with large square English houses built of cement and stone.

There are not any municipal water works in the Bermuda Islands. The people supply their own water by collecting it in large cisterns after rains. A law of the island requires the owners to white wash the roof of their house twice a year to aid in purifying the water.

Miss Corwin brought back a can of Dunhill's English tobacco for her father. She also brought back a string of beads made out of the seeds from the Pride of the India Tree, a pitcher of Royal Dolton china and some native coral.

Miss Corwin will remain in Maryville the rest of the summer. She says that she is undecided as to what she will do this winter.

CHICAGO SITUATION TENSE

Governor of Nebraska Asked to Have State Troops Ready When Shops Reopen.

Lincoln, July 7—Mobilization of state troops for strike duty has been requested of Governor McKelvie of the county and city officers of towns where the railroads are reported contemplating operation with the strike-breakers. Delegations from Norfolk and Plattsmouth said they were acting on representations from railroad officials the shops will be reopened if protection is promised by state and local authorities.

Springfield, July 7—The strike situation at Decatur is apparently quieted down. Unless reports of renewed violence by Wabash railroad shopmen the state troops now mobilized will not be sent.

SOME AVERSIONS TO WORK

A man remarked some years ago that he would prefer to suffer severe pain rather than work. There are a good many like him in the world, and they constitute a problem for their friends and the community.

There are some men who are born tired. In some cases their feeling is the result of a poor physical condition. They may have ruined their health through vices, or perhaps inherited enfebled constitutions and never made any effort to build them up by wholesome outdoor exercise. Such men are entitled to some sympathy, but they are largely responsible for their own troubles and might yet cure them by a resolute effort for physical improvement.

Other men were born without ambition, easy going, good natured, irresponsible. Often they are personally agreeable. They go through life in a happy go lucky way, accepting favors from friends, never feeling under obligation to make return. Men like that consume their full share of the world's comforts and make no returns for the same.

The man who said he preferred pain to work, was of a quite different type. He lived on a farm, but was by nature a bookworm. The plough and the hoe were hated objects to him. Not the least interest could he arouse in corn, hogs or farm products. But give that man some subject to look up in a library and he would produce an intelligent report of it.

A man like that is a misfit in life, and somebody should have steered him into his proper calling. If he had been trained for library work or some form of investigation or research, he could have lived a happy life. What a pity it is that the gifts of so many people are never discovered and that they blunder through life doing things that look worse to them than severe pain.

There is a lot of discussion as to the sum a family or three, four or five people can live on. It looks like there is no question about it. It is what the head of the house can earn.

A man walked into a Main street tailor shop the other day and told the tailor he was looking for a medium sized check. "So am I", replied the knight of the needle. When can you pay that bill?"

WHAT JUDGE CULVER SAYS ABOUT REED

"Why should a Democrat Support Reed?"—Ask Culver-Detructive Rathe Constructive.

The following letter was written by Judge R. E. Culver of St. Joseph to the Long-for-Senator Club at St. Joseph:

"I am very sorry that I cannot get home for the Long meeting Thursday night, because I am both for Long and against Reed.

"During the war, when every patriotic American was doing his bit to help and at the very time our boys were fighting and dying in Europe, Reed was, day after day, sniping from the rear and sides, opposing those in authority who were trying to win the war.

"As a Senator all his energies have been spent in destruction rather than construction. It is all right to oppose bad measures but a Senator should sometimes support good ones, which Reed has seldom done and never enthusiastically.

"As a Democrat he has been out of line with the party for ten years. Every act of his, whether so designed or not, has tended to wreck his party.

"So far as I am concerned he has stood for those things both during the war and since, to which I, as a citizen, am opposed; and at the same time he has done more to destroy the party in which I believe than any Republican now living.

"Why should a Democrat support Reed, rather than the clean able Democrat opposing him?"

Signed, R. E. CULVER."

Onion Color Accommodating Shade For Hose

Onion color is probably the prettiest and certainly the most accommodating shade for stockings which is worn today. It can be worn with either black or brown shoes and with dull or shiny shoes alike—this also no mean distinction. In cotton or thread stockings—and there are people even today who do not always wear silk—onion color looks very much better than any of the dark shades, which have a knack of looking coarse.

After onion color, squirrel gray goes with most things. Pink grays are very much harder to accommodate, and they do not improve with washing. Perhaps the subtlest note is struck by what used to be the black silk stocking. It has been discovered that black silk stockings have a tendency to make the skin look red, and that a dark iron-gray gives the effect of a very delicate black stocking without having this disadvantage. Thus most smart "black' stockings are now dark gray with an openwork clock.

RADIO IN TELEPATHY

He has adapted the radiophone to the detection of the dynamic action of thought waves. Superinduced by a high tension coil, the thought waves are caught by a radio detector and transmitted to the phones. The subject's head is placed in a "directional aerial" as shown in the photograph.

THE MISSING MISS.

Returning home at close of day,
Who quietly chides my long delay?
Who greets me in a cheerful way?
Nobody.

Who caters to my every care?
Who makes me take the easy chair?
Who puts my cosy slippers there?
Nobody.

Who has my dinner steaming hot?
Who for my welfare cares a lot?
Who heeds if I am sick or not?
Nobody.

But who will presently do this?
Who's going to give me cheery bliss?
Who—Must you know? Well, it is Miss Somebody.

WITH NODAWAY CO. FARMERS

Roy Wells

Roy Wells finished at noon yesterday at his farm west of Harmony laying by his 125 acre corn crop and went at once to work harvesting his seventy-five acres of oats.

Mr. Wells is farming on a large scale. He farms and pastures 460 acres of land, 240 acres of which belongs to him. He has his barn filled with clover hay, which he says is as pure and nice and which was put up in as good shape as any he ever saw. He has thirty acres of timothy ready to cut but says that he cannot get to it until he has finished with the oats crop. The timothy is a little thin on the ground, due Mr. Wells thinks, to the fact that there was not enough rain early in the spring to give it a good start. He says that timothy needs a good amount of rain in March and April to make it stool out well. The crop has grown up to a good height, however, Mr. Wells sold a farm last fall that has most of his wheat crop on it.

Mr. Wells has between fifty and sixty head of cattle, including some twenty-five spring calves. Most of these cattle are pure bred Shorthorns. He has been eliminating the grades for several years until mostly the pure breds are left.

In addition to the cattle on the place there are 300 head of hogs, including the spring pigs. He has been having a little trouble with the pigs recently on account of the fact that they have had worms.

Dale Simmons

Dale Simmons, between Harmony and Orrsburg, has laid by his seventy acres of corn. His crop is well along, forty acres of it sending out tassels now. He has fifty acres of oats and expects to start harvesting the crop with two binders Monday.

Mr. Simmons has seventy-five spring pigs to which he expects to feed his corn crop. Some of the pigs have been sick, however, and he has lost a few of them. He has one lot of hogs on feed now. He lets them run in the clover and alfalfa. The hogs eat what they want and the rest grows up and makes a crop. He has got enough clover and alfalfa this year to fill his barn. His second cutting of alfalfa, where the hogs are running is about ready to harvest.

Mr. Simmons has an 80-acre farm of his own and rents considerable land from the Thomas Woodburn estate.

C. A. Hunt

C. A. Hunt has at his farm three-quarters of a mile north of Harmony a herd of fifty head of shoats. He is raising a crop of forty-three acres of corn and expects to fatten them out.

ORRSBURG FARMERS MUCH PLEASED WITH THE SEASON

The farmers in the vicinity of Orrsburg are much pleased with the season so far. They say that the rains have come just right for the production of a big crop. It has rained every time just when it was needed since early spring and then it has quit just when enough had fallen each time, giving time to get the corn all worked out in good shape before another rain came.

ALL DISTRICT MEETING AND BASKET DINNER AT GAYNOR

A basket dinner will be held at Gaynor Sunday July 9, and district No. 7 Sunday School association will hold an all day meeting at Gaynor.

G. B. Roseberry of Maryville was here the first of the week making arrangements for a convention of the Sunday Schools of Union and Hopkins Townships to be held here on July 30. In addition to the program it is planned to have a big basket dinner in a grove near town.

O. G. Null returned Wednesday night from Webb City, Mo., where he was called last Saturday by the illness of his youngest sister, Mrs. C. W. Oldham. Mrs. Oldham passed away early Monday morning and on Tuesday the body was interred in Mount Hope Cemetery near Webb City. Mrs. Oldham was born and grew to womanhood in the Myrtle Tree neighborhood, afterward moving to Maryville. She and her family have lived at Webb City where Mr. Oldham was Superintendent of schools for about six years.

On our trip to Webb City we noticed that the crops south of St. Joseph are not nearly so promising as in Nodaway County. Much of the corn on the bottom lands had its first plowing this week and very little of it is over knee high. The wheat crop along the entire way seemed to be good but the oat crop is short in acreage and much of it is quite weedy. Threshing was in progress all along the way on our return trip.

Threshing began in this vicinity this week. C. E. Florea starting his machine on his farm, north of Mozingo Valley and the Clyde Thresher Company started their oil pull rig on the Vern Fakes farm northwest of town. The fields threshed have made a good yield of grain which is testing 60 pounds and over to the bushel with a very low moisture content.

The rain Thursday night stopped the threshing for one day at least.

Sunday School as usual at the M. E. Church next Sunday at 10 A. M. No other services are yet announced for the day.

Bible School at the Christian Church at 10 A. M. next Sunday. It is expected that Charles A. Knouse of Plattsburg will preach at 11 A. M. and 8 P. M.

William E. Spratt for CONGRESS

The Fourth Congressional District has only had three Republican Congressmen in the past 47 years. No Republican Congressman in this district has ever gone back for a second term. A Round Trip Ticket to Washington was all any one of them has ever needed.

Four years ago Wm. E. Spratt was just nosed out of the nomination by Mr. Booher by the small maoritjy of 150 votes in the entire district of six counties. Mr. Spratt was for four years or two terms elected Mayor of St. Joseph. When he was elected on the Democratic ticket for the first time he was the only man on the ticket that was successful. The second time he was elected, every man on the ticket from top to bottom was elected with him. For eight years thereafter the city of St. Joseph remained in the Democratic Banks.

AFRICA LOSING WILD GAME

Unless Speedily Afforded Protection Many Species Will Shortly Become Utterly Extinct.

South Africa, which has long been regarded as having an almost inexhaustible supply of wild game, is threatened with extinction of several of its most valuable species, animals for which explorers and hunters like Colonel Roosevelt sought in moderation, and which others have slaughtered wantonly for their hides, horns, or merely for the pleasure of killing. In an article in the Zoological Society Bulletin, A. K. Haagner, director of the National Zoological Gardens of South Africa at Pretoria, says that many wild animals may soon be as scarce in Africa as others are in the United States.

The white rhinoceros, the graceful nyala—a species of antelope—the bontebok and the mountain zebra, a quaint little animal with the stripes in which children at the zoo delight, are rapidly vanishing from the South African hills and plains, and those interested in their preservation are finding great difficulty in arousing the people of the country to the necessity for protecting them in preserves.

EXPLAINING KNOTS ON TREES

They Mark Spots Where the Branches Have Left the Parent Stem or Trunk.

Trees are formed of three parts—the roots, the parent stem or trunk, and the branches. When the trees are cut up into lumber, the first of these parts is useless, and generally is left in the ground to be salvaged later for other purposes.

The branches of the tree are also comparatively useless, but the trunk produces a number of valuable planks in proportion to its diameter.

In spite of the fact that the branches have been lopped off, they leave their mark upon the parent stem in the shape of hard, round or oval spots, which we call "knots." Each of these knots shows where the limb of the tree was growing, because the limb had its beginning in the heart of the trunk, drawing its sustenance directly from the central source of supply.

The hardness of knots is due to the fact that more strength is required at the base of the limb than farther out.

FIVE CHILDREN AT RAVENWOOD CLINIC

Health Nurses Found That Two Corrections Had Been Made Since Last Visit

The clinic at Ravenwood yesterday was conducted by Dr. Claude P. Fryer, county health officer and Miss Margaret Scully and Mrs. Grace Bean, county health nurses, was attended by three school children and two preschool children and one baby.

The county health nurses in their visits with the mothers yesterday morning preceeding the clinic found that two corrections had been made as a result of the last clinic at Ravenwood, three weeks ago. These corrections were of defective tonsils and adenoids. Twelve children attended the other clinic at Ravenwood.

The health officers were in Parnell today to conduct a clinic and will be in the health office at Maryville in the morning.

HANTZE HAS RUN BINDER 22 YEARS

AND THE REPAIRS HAVE COST ONLY $5.00.

GOOD FOR TWENTY MORE

Owner Believes That Secret of Longevity of Farm Machinery Is Keeping it Well Shedded.

William Hantze has a binder at his farm a mile and a half northwest of Orrsburg that he is running the twenty-second season and he says that he has spent not to exceed $5 in repairs for worn parts in all these years. And the long life of the binder is not due to the fact that it has not cut much grain. Mr. Hantze says that while he has not a very large crop of grain this year, he has cut as high as 150 acres in a season with the machine. The only worn parts that have been replaced is the upper elevator canvas and the small drive gear pinion. A gear wheel on the bundle apparatus was broken once by accident.

The binder is a little odd in appearance for it is one of the old right-hand McCormicks, which that company was turning out twenty to twenty-five years ago. The machine was purchased by Mr. Hantze's father in the year of 1901. Later it came into the hands of the son. Mr. Hantze had everything ready to start harvesting his oats crop today with the binder and it looks as though, with minor repairs, it would run for another twenty years.

The binder is not the only piece of machinery at the Hantze farm that has been run many years and is in good repair despite the fact. A lister that Mr. Hantze purchased shortly after he was married, twenty-four years ago, looks nearly as good as if it were new. A corn planter purchased in the year of 1907 is standing in the shed ready to hitch to next year when the time comes and go right on with the planting without a bit of repairs, and a Janesville disc cultivator, purchased about 1895 is still good for use. Mr. Hantze says that he never cared much for the disc cultivator and consequently never gave it shed room. But even the wooden tongue of the cultivator has not rotted out.

"I believe," says Mr. Hantze, "that the secret of making your machinery last a long time is keeping it well shedded. When I put my binder, my planter or other machinery away when I have finished with it for one season I put it away in such a condition that it is ready to pull right out and put in another crop. I have seen men get their planters or other machinery out in the spring and it would take about a day to get it to working right. I never have this difficulty. Taking good care of the machinery not only makes it last longer but it saves one a lot of time when the season for the use of it comes."

Mr. Hantze has sixty acres of corn this year and has 110 spring pigs to feed it to. He has a carload of hogs ready to ship now and will put them on the market within a few days. He says that he is a great friend of hogs and that he believes that they are the greatest friend the farmer has. He feeds out about two carloads a year on his farm. Last year he cribbed about 2,500 bushels of corn and expects to feed the whole thing to hogs.

Mr. Hantze has at his farm a young orchard of twenty-five apple trees that are just beginning to bear. They have a pretty good crop on them. Mrs Hantze is raising ducks this year and has sixty-one young ones.

OATS HARVEST HAS BEEN STARTED IN NODAWAY COUNTY

Floyd Evans Had Finished a Field Just North of Harmony Church Yesterday

With the Nodaway County wheat crop, excepting a few rare cases, all in the shock the oats harvest has been started. Floyd Evans, just north of the Harmony Church was among the first men in the county to begin binding oats. Two binders were standing yesterday just across the road from the church, after he had wound up with them in the middle of the field when the oats were all bound. The crop had shocked up pretty thick for oats and had the appearance of one that will make a good yield.

A number of other farmers in the vicinity of Harmony and Orrsburg were planning yesterday on starting their binders today in their oats crop. Roy Wells started yesterday.

Magic?—No,

Intelligence holds Beauty's Secret

FOR the next while, we are going to tell you some simple but arresting truths about how cleanliness and beauty are related.

Let us start with the face.

A really healthy skin is always a clean skin and usually a beautiful skin.

Physicians who have studied the care of the skin say that simple cleanliness is the one most important aid to the health and beauty of your complexion.

And they dwell upon the importance of using pure, gentle soap, which is nothing but soap—that is, without extraneous or mysterious additions.

A word of caution, therefore:—if you buy a soap with the hope that it has magic beauty powers, you court disappointment. For promoting beauty, soap can do only one thing—clean safely!

One would say that was simple enough—to clean safely.

Yet before Ivory Soap, only a few people could enjoy the luxury of pure, mild, safe-cleaning soap. Now, of course, everyone can have it.

Safe-cleansing is the duty, the privilege and the destiny of Ivory Soap. In forty-three years no other claim has been made for it.

Ivory is always the same—always that white, mild, gentle soap which has protected hands and faces and refreshed bodies for nearly two generations. It contains no "mysteries," it offers no "magic."

When you buy Ivory, you are asked to buy only pure soap. Ivory helps to beautify, because it cleans safely.

"My dear Alicia," says Mr. Jollyco in a very gentlemanly dudgeon, "why has this comic opera soap replaced the Ivory in my bathroom?" (We always know Mr. Jollyco is angry when he says "my bathroom" and is so frighteningly polite.)

"I think, Henry," replies his wife without a flinch, "that that soap belongs to your daughter Sally, who has lately gone in for colored 'beauty soap.' The Ivory is just behind you."

Some day Mr. Jollyco is going to speak sternly to Sally about dyes in colored soap. But today he will feel so good after his lathery Ivory bath that he will forget it.

IVORY SOAP

99 44/100% PURE IT FLOATS

Here we see Mrs. Folderol—at home. What! The Mrs. Folderol, of Vanity Square? The very same! With her poor little rich baby that cries so much. Why does he cry? Listen as Mrs. F. talks with Mrs. Jollyco.

"Why, I can't see how the soap could hurt him—it's so expensive and pretty and smells heavenly!"

"But, my dear, his skin shows it. He's chafed! Haven't you any Ivory?" No, Mrs. F. has no Ivory, but she will have after Dr. Verity arrives.

And here, dear reader, is Dr. Verity, whose motto is: "Keeping well is better than getting well." A most lovable old gentleman, indeed, but very severe and frowny when dealing with persons like Mrs. Folderol, to whose home he is now hurrying.
